

RESCUE OF COLLINS IS 48 HOURS AWAY

TESTS SHOW NO FISSURE WILL AID WORKERS

Drillers Cannot Find Crevice To Expedite Reaching Floyd

Cave City, Ky., Feb. 13.—There is no short cut to Floyd Collins.

Long hours of drilling and digging throughout the night disclosed today that no fissure will expedite the removal of the entombed cave explorer.

When the core drill, fifteen feet from where the shaft was being sunk, reached the depth of 65 feet, a tunnel was disclosed. But the drill test in the bottom of the shaft revealed no such tunnel.

This means that a tunnel drilled through hard limestone will have to be cut to the point where the test disclosed the fissure, so that it might be used as a starting point from which side-drifting will begin for the cavern where the entombed Floyd lies, either dead or alive.

This will consume at least forty-eight hours.

"We are not discouraged by the drill test," H. T. Carmichael, director of the operations, said, "although it was a disappointment to us that no crevice was found similar to the one which the drill showed when we made the previous test about 5 feet south-east of the shaft."

"The results of this second test means that we will have to cut laterally in one and possibly several directions when we get down to the level at which Collins is believed to be."

"Although it will be harder to dig through limestone than through mud, it will be much easier in regard to the timbering and will save us considerable time."

At 9:40 o'clock this morning everyone was ordered to leave the pit by Carmichael. The import of the order has not yet been determined. There still remains the possibility that a minor cavern may exist under another part of the shaft, but this it was said, will be relatively unimportant so far as expediting digging is concerned.

felt at the bottom and is believed to be the strong draft continues to be come from small fissures similar to those already encountered.

At Cave City the military inquiry sitting to hear testimony regarding the Sand cave district, went into its fourth day's session. No list of witnesses had been announced and it was regarded as likely the session would be only continuance of the automatic testimony of hill folk crowded into the record through the persistent questioning of the five officer lawyers who compose the court.

That the shaft is the only feasible method of rescuing Collins; that the work of the troops here has been a matter for general commendation and that an acetylene torch could not have been used in effecting a rescue are the things the state of Kentucky is attempting to prove through its inquiry.

Lieutenant Governor H. H. Denhardt presiding, said the court would continue sessions over Saturday at least.

LION KILLS YOUNG GIRL TRAINER IN ESCAPE FROM CAGE

Manila, Feb. 13.—Crashing through the steel bars that separated it from the girl performer who was putting the animal through its tricks, a circus tiger at a Manila carnival show this afternoon killed the young woman.

A quick minded Filipino detective in the audience shot and killed the blood maddened jungle beast just as it was leaping from the stage on which it had ended the girl's life into the midst of the crowded seats encircling the ringside.

So quickly did the killing occur that circus employees had no opportunity to come to the girl's rescue. The shot falling the tiger as it hurtled through the air toward the audience quelled the panic which occurred.

AMNESIA VICTIM ADMITS FURNACE MURDER—POLICE SCOUT ODD STORY

Birmingham, Ala., Feb. 13.—An unidentified man, who declares he remembers having "murdered a preacher's wife and shoving her body into a furnace," was held by police here today.

The man was apparently about thirty years old and well dressed, walked into police headquarters and requested that officers aid him in "finding himself."

He did not know his name or where he was, he declared, but did have a hazy "recollection of having burned a preacher's wife in a furnace."

THINK KELLOGG MAY QUIT POST BECAUSE OF PARIS QUESTION

Believe Action Would Save Embarrassment To Coolidge

London, Feb. 13.—Friends of United States Ambassador Kellogg said today "they would not be surprised if he offered to resign as secretary of state," if it would save President Coolidge from embarrassment because of the part Kellogg took in signing the Paris financial agreement.

Kellogg would become secretary of state March 4, the date Charles E. Hughes leaves that office.

The American embassy denied that Kellogg was delaying his departure from London to avoid appearing before a senate committee to explain the Paris agreement.

Kellogg will depart from London February 17 as originally scheduled, it was said.

The embassy emphasized that Kellogg was not personally disturbed by the senatorial criticism. If senatorial antagonism toward the agreement and animosity toward Kellogg continue when he arrives in the United States, one of his first acts would be to submit his resignation to the president, to be accepted or declined, friends said.

The embassy commented today upon a statement in the London Telegraph.

The telegraph said changes made in the Paris agreement after it had been signed, were attached to the main agreement and not incorporated in it. These changes, the Telegraph said, were deletion of the words: "After deduction of sums allotted for other treaty changes." These words were in the paragraph which awarded the United States two and one quarter per cent of the Dawes annuities.

The embassy said these changes were "trivial." The embassy emphasized further that the American delegation was responsible for article twenty-seven of the agreement. This article specifically provides that the agreement does not affect the status of other treaties.

YOUTH KILLED AT ROXANNA CROSSING

INVESTIGATION OF OHIO STATE POISONING TO BE REVIVED BY COLLEGE DEAN

Authorities of School Confident Poisoner Can Be Run Down By Intensive Inquiry—Will Question Upper Classmen

Columbus, O., Feb. 13.—Ohio State University authorities are convinced that the deaths of two students from strychnine poisoning and the narrow escape of four other students were due to the work of a deliberate criminal. Dr. E. F. McCampbell, dean of the O. S. U. college of medicine, said at noon today.

Dr. McCampbell is in charge of the renewed investigation into the poisoning mystery.

Columbus, O., Feb. 13.—Investigation of the Ohio State University poisoning mystery is to be reopened today at the university with Dr. E. F. McCampbell, dean of the college of medicine in charge.

Police Prosecutor Chester said today university authorities had advised him they were confident the poisoner could be run down by an intensive inquiry. Chester said he plans to devote his afternoons aiding the university officials in the probe, and had offered the authorities all the resources of the police department. City detective Carson, who aided Chester in his original investigation of the mystery, has been detailed to aid Dr. McCampbell, it was announced.

It is understood that university officials propose to question upper classmen of the college of pharmacy.

As part of the investigation, Dr. Thompson, president of the university, who is expected to take an active part in the probe, will address a mass meeting of pharmacy students Saturday afternoon when he is expected to appeal for aid in solving the mystery.

University officials for the present, at least, will not reopen the dispensary at the pharmacy college, where medicines have been issued at cost to students and from which the capsules strychnine, which killed two students, were issued, it was stated.

MORE THAN HUNDRED BODIES RECOVERED IN MINE DISASTER

Flags at Half Mast In Germany Because of Tragedy

Dortmund, Germany, Feb. 13.—Flags were flying at half mast here today in many other cities of Germany and as Dortmund counted its dead in one of the worst mine disasters in the history of Germany.

More than a hundred bodies have been recovered. Two rescuers, who went into the gas filled tunnels were suffocated by new gas explosions.

So far as known the accident was caused by a spark from an engine, exploding fire damp, a gas which collects in mines. The detonations shook the town like peals of thunder. All "protective walls in the tunnels and shafts were said to have been thrown down, thus trapping the men.

Chancellor Luther terminated his vacation and came here to take charge of the rescue work. Special precautions have been taken to preserve order among the panic stricken population.

Baseball Family Skeleton Will Be Quietly Buried

By DAVID J. WALSH

New York, Feb. 13.—The skeleton in baseball's family closet will be tenderly laid to rest within the next forty-eight hours and thereafter will rotte no more.

Judge Landis will officiate at the obsequies and they will be simple, affecting and final. He will arrive in this city on Sunday morning and at the brief conference with the district attorney a decision will be reached as to whether Jimmy O'Connell shall be punished further for his part in the affair or permitted to go his future way unmolested.

Landis' attitude has been forecast as one of tolerance and clemency toward O'Connell, whose loss in food and honor has been deemed sufficient to cover his offense. If Landis says the word, the skeleton will have rattled its last.

As matters stand, the district attorney has let it be known that he will be guided by Landis in his future actions if any. He stands ready to indict O'Connell before the grand jury and prosecute his extradition from California. But Landis will not say the word because the man he is after is not Jimmy O'Connell. He is an unnamed and unidentified somebody who was so much smarter than O'Connell that he covered his trail perfectly, leaving James holding the well known bag. It seems unlikely that the man in question, if he exists at all, will ever be apprehended.

With the start of another season, there will hardly be a headstone to mark the scandals dishonored grave, unless Cozy Dolan revives the issue temporarily with a civil suit for reinstatement. I am pleased to doubt that he will.

Dolan, however, will make formal application to the judge for reinstatement but it is almost certain that he will be greeted with a refusal as flat as a tailor's iron.

The district attorney did not give Cozy the clean bill of health he granted Young, Frisch and Kelly, but contented himself with the rather pointed information that Dolan's conduct during the first investigation had laid him open to a suspicion of guilt, which had not been removed in the meantime.

The judge, therefore, would have no reason to copper his own bet. It was his decision that Dolan was guilty and the judge is not one to admit an error while the official scorer happens to be scoring the play as a clean hit.

Disadvantage of Attachment

One of the joined-twins was ill, but both had to stay in bed because their bodies are attached. Daisy Hilton was stricken and both had to be taken off a train and sent to a Newark, N. J., hospital, where Violet spent the day reading to her sick sister.

WATCH YOUR STEP IT'S FRIDAY, 13TH

Superstitious Hold Meeting To Lay Down Rules On Omens

The Society of Mutual Depression and Pessimism met Friday morning around the cannon on the Court House lawn.

John J. Gloom, chief priest of the department of believers in superstitions, presided at the session.

Members listened to an address by Adam Jockiller, heard talks by L. M. Sad and Miss Iva Worry, took part in a business session and passed a resolution agreeing to camp on the Court House lawn until after midnight Friday rather than take any chances going to their homes.

Reports of the committee chairmen were heard at the business session. Calamity Jane Katz, head of the committee on telltale omens, reported a black cat population in the city of 137 and gave addresses so that members could avoid them.

Heesin Peer, chairman of the committee on carpenters and joiners, tinners, painters and what-nots, gave detailed information as where ladders might be found extending over the sidewalk. Oliver Glass gave a report on broken mirrors and Becky Sharp read a paper on the finding of pins. Discussion centered around the question of whether the finding of a safety pin should be included in the category of omens. Conservatives won a point when they included this type of pin in the resolutions. Liberals were pricked by the defeat. The pin question again came to a head when the question of admitting needles to the fraternity of fears was put to a motion and the "ayes" had it.

A resolution to remove knives and forks from the list of omens was introduced at noon and was tabled. Police were called in to settle an argument at the luncheon hour, when Iodora Thrill spilled salt on the table. In throwing a pinch of salt over her left shoulder she struck the Trouble brothers, Frank and Ernest, in the eyes. Blinded, they separated and walked around different sides of the cannon and shouted "bread and butter" afterward so loudly that restaurants did a rushing business.

The gathering remained in session after three o'clock at which time glasses of a patent medicine were passed around, guaranteed to cure falling stars, falling prices or fallen armies. The closing action of the session was a resolution thanking the stars and the moon that the eclipse and Mrs. Rowan's end of the world party were not scheduled for a comeback Friday.

It was Friday, the thirteenth.

LA FOLLETTE MEN ATTACK REPORT

Washington, Feb. 13.—The report of the special senate campaign expenditure committee, drew sharp attack today from the followers of Senator Borah for corrupt practices legislation but declined the report for not going far enough in proposing sweeping diminution of campaign expenditures.

Senator Shipstead, farmer-labor, of Minnesota, said he favored limiting national campaign funds to $500,000 for each major party. He was a member of the investigating committee.

Columbus, O. Feb. 13.—Confirmation of the appointment of Thomas J. Duffy, of Columbus County by Gov. E. A. Tamm, to be a member of the Industrial Commission for a period of six years, is to be granted by the Senate, it was decided here today at a caucus of Republican members of that body.

SOLONS ON VISIT TO LONGVIEW HOSPITAL AND ASSEMBLY IDLE

New Bills To Occupy Attention When Sessions Re-convene.

Columbus, O., Feb. 13.—With leaders and many members of the senate and house in Cincinnati, as guests of the Cincinnati Chamber of Commerce for an investigation of Longview Hospital, no legislative sessions were held here today.

Both senate and house late Thursday recessed until Monday evening. Reorganization of the state's system of motor vehicle registration, under a commissioner and distribution of licenses for autos and drivers by county auditors are proposed in a bill by Representative Lipp, Hamilton, which is scheduled for second reading and reference in the house.

Other bills scheduled for second reading and reference in the house are:

By Falkenstein, Butler, proposing to abandon the Miami and Erie canal from Middletown to St. Bernard, Hamilton County.

By Riggs, Gallia, permitting establishment of county quarantine areas for bovine tuberculosis tests, on petition of owners of 75 per cent of cattle within a county.

By Forney, Hancock, providing fine of from $500 to $5,000 and from three to ten years imprisonment for carrying weapons while illegally transporting liquor.

By Ball, Scioto, increasing penalty for petit larceny, from 30 days, to nine months in jail and fine, from $200 to $500, or both; by Anderson, Stark, increasing compensation for temporary disability under compensation law, from $18.75 to $25 a week, and permitting compensation from date of injury; by Anderson, Stark, prohibiting the insurance of motor vehicles against fire, or theft, for more than their actual worth, and by Creighton, Washington, repealing law requiring dimming of headlights of automobiles.

WIRES, WIRELESS ROCKETS, RADIO, TO TELL RESCUE STORY

Sand Cave, Feb. 13.—The flare of star shells, the whine of radio, the staccato click of Morse, the buzz of telephones—these will carry to a waiting world the message: "Floyd Collins lives," or "Floyd Collins is dead."

Be it night or day when the workers in the shaft reach the Sand Cave prisoner, nearly 100 newspapermen gathered here from all parts of the country have arranged to flash news from Sand Cave. Telegraph wires, linking Cave City with the news centers of the country, have been installed in the little Dixie hotel here. And in that hotel, one group of reporters will wait the word from their co-workers at Sand Cave, nine miles away over the rutty rock filled roads.

If Collins is found at night, a green star shell will emblazon its message of death in the sky. A white will be the color of life.

One newspaper will crack out the news in continental by radio to its office, 100 miles away.

In addition to this, airships, huge locusts in the field nearby, are awaiting the news when pictorial records of Collins release from the shaft made by corps of photographers, is entrusted to their pilots for deliverance within a few hours to the nation's metropolitan dailies.

RUSSELL CONNOR DIES AT ESPEY HOSPITAL HERE

Clyde Ewing Seriously Injured When Pennsy Train Hits Auto

Russell Connor, 20, son of Mr. and Mrs. James Connor, New Burlington, died in Espey Hospital, this city, Friday noon, about 12 o'clock, from injuries received when the machine in which he and Clyde Ewing, 25, New Burlington, were riding, was struck by a fast Pennsylvania passenger train at the Roxanna Crossing, at 10:30 o'clock.

Ewing is in the hospital, suffering from a broken hip and other serious injuries but is thought to have a chance to recover.

He is the son of William Ewing, and is employed as a carpenter in New Burlington with his father.

Connor and Ewing were riding in a Ford roadster through Roxanna to Mount Holly where they were going to look at a gasoline engine at the home of Roy Smith.

The crossing where the accident happened has no watchman or gates and it is thought that the elevator of the Farmers' Exchange obstructed the view of the young men in the machine. They drove onto the track, directly in the path of the oncoming train, which was running at a speed of about forty-five miles an hour.

The crossing is three miles west of New Burlington.

The Ford roadster in which they were riding was completely demolished and both occupants were thrown a great distance.

The train was immediately stopped and trainmen picked up the injured young men and brought them to Xenia where Dr. W. A. Galloway, Pennsylvania railroad surgeon was called and gave them first-aid treatment and rushed both to the Espey Hospital.

Connor died without regaining consciousness. While Ewing's injuries are serious, as shown by X-rays, he is thought to have a chance to recover.

The train which struck the machine was east bound and the machine was going west when the accident happened.

X-rays show Connor received a broken neck which caused his death. He was unconscious when picked up by trainmen several hundred feet from the crossing.

Ewing's most serious injury is a fracture of the left hip. He was stunned and only partially conscious when found. His hip was set by physicians Friday afternoon.

The men were driving in an open roadster, without curtains.

Connor is survived by his parents and two brothers, Raymond and Rufus, both at home. Ewing's father, and two sisters live at New Burlington. Neither Connor nor Ewing was married.

KESTER BOUND OVER TO HIGHER COURT

Ralph Kester, Xenia, charged with distributing and exhibiting obscene literature and pictures, waived examination when brought into Police Court Friday noon and was bound over to Common Pleas Court under $1,000 bond. In default of bond he was lodged in the County Jail.

Kester is alleged to have committed the offense on January 5, but left the city when school authorities enlisted the aid of the law.

A warrant was sworn out for his arrest and authorities in Collinsville, Ill., ten miles north of St. Louis, arrested him last Monday, as he was apparently making his way West.

He was returned to Xenia and pleaded not guilty to the charge when arraigned in Police Court.

The girl has been unable to give further light on what prompted her to attempt suicide but members of her family feel that a sudden fit of despondency caused her act.

Mr. Samuel Anderson of the Jamestown pike, is confined to his home with grip.

ALLOW ARMSTRONG'S BILL AS PROSECUTOR IN LATIMER TRIAL

Common Pleas Judge R. L. Gowdy has ruled that Attorney Harry C. Armstrong, shall receive $500 compensation for his two-day services as special prosecuting attorney on December 22 and 23 in the trial of the State of Ohio against C. W. Latimer for first degree murder, in addition to the salary he earned when appointed regular prosecutor during the unfinished term of J. K. Williamson, resigned.

Armstrong was first appointed special prosecutor on the eve of the trial with Judge E. D. Smith but served only two days before being named successor to Williamson.

Armstrong and Smith each presented a bill for $500 for their service as special prosecutors, but payment was refused Armstrong by the County Auditor's office on the grounds that he could not legally draw the salary of special prosecutor since he was sworn in as regular prosecutor. Smith's bill was allowed.

Auditor Wead held that Armstrong was entitled to only the salary of regular prosecutor during the unfinished term amounting to about $45. Attorney General C. C. Crabbe backed up the auditor in his stand.

Surgeons, Physicians, Dentists Use Wonderful New Antiseptic

We are calling the attention of the good people of Xenia and vicinity of Kojene, the most powerful, non-poisonous, non-alcoholic, non-irritating Antiseptic known.

In this newspaper we will continue to tell the people, and especially the ailing people, to whom Kojene will prove a blessing, just exactly what physical ills it will help, and in spite of our enthusiasm for this wonderful antiseptic will stick to the truth in every statement we make.

We will not exaggerate—although some of the things we write may seem exaggerated.

Nothing equals Kojene for irritation of the antrum; for Pyorrhea and Gingivitis; for Stomatitis, Trench Mouth, pus pockets and all cases of infection.

Kojene, so we will tell more people who need it, is four times as powerful as an antiseptic than Carbolic Acid. It is much more powerful than poisonous bichloride of mercury, and will not burn or even irritate the tenderest membrane.

We will tell the readers of this paper of its wonderful and quickly effective action in Tonsillitis and sore throat; of how completely it drives out the offensive mucus of catarrh and thoroughly cleans the entire nasal tract.

We will tell them of its remarkable success in the treatment of cankers in the mouth and how quickly it succeeds when used for Eczema, itching skin, ulcers, boils and skin eruptions.

And last but by no means least, we will tell them that as a germ destroying mouth wash it is as far ahead of the highly flavored and bubbling kind as daylight is to candlelight and has no nasty, disagreeable taste.

It is seventy-five times as powerful as the weak kinds whose popularity seems to lie in their weakness and the ignorance of those who use them.

A sixty cent bottle (6 ounce) of Kojene will make one-half gallon of a stringer, better and more efficient mouth wash than the high priced doubtful ones you buy ready made.

Medical men like to join in any effort to drive menacing poisons from the home and give their support to any great and worthy preparation that destroys pernicious germs and helps humanity—that is just what Kojene does.

In six ounce bottles at Sayre & Hemphill and every progressive drugist in America, 60c with the understanding that money will be returned if any purchases is dissatisfied. Complete and simple directions for treating various ailments with each bottle. Adv.

Pains Stopped for millions in this way

Remember this when you feel a pain. Millions have learned how to stop it at once.

For 65 years they have done so by rubbing with St. Jacobs Oil.

All the pains allied with rheumatism, with soreness, backache or lameness. And chest colds are checked at the start.

Just rub the sore spot with St. Jacobs Oil. It causes counter irritation. Or it relieves the congestion by bringing the blood to the surface. Then the pain is ended, and you can wait in comfort while Nature cures.

Now there are several ways offer to do this. But remember that St. Jacobs Oil has for 65 years stood the test. It has proved itself to millions. Nobody has ever found anything better, and nobody ever will.

Don't wait until the pain starts. Keep St. Jacobs Oil on hand. It may have nights of suffering. Rub the sore spot as soon as a pain appears, or a chest cold. Get relief at once. Think what protection this means to you, and the cost is only 35 cents.

MOTHERS! HERE'S NEW FORM OF COD LIVER OIL YOUR CHILD WILL LOVE

America's largest laboratories have solved the cod liver oil problem once and for all, by creating a new form with the taste of rich cocoa. Coco Cod, as it is called, is being prescribed by physicians and recommended by teachers and scientists everywhere.

Your youngsters will love Coco Cod; they'll take it willingly. Best of all, it is wonderfully nourishing for little folks as well as grown-ups. For it contains in concentrated form the vital nerve-strengthening, blood-building elements (vitamines) which our modern food lacks.

Give your children Coco Cod and watch them thrive on it. Mothers and fathers who are tired, rundown or over-worked, find that it makes them feel alive in every fibre. Even athletes gain added vigor and rugged strength through Coco Cod.

All local druggists have Coco Cod the new easy-to-take cod liver oil with the taste of rich cocoa. Caution: Coco Cod is sold only in liquid form, in 12-ounce bottles, never in tablets. Best results are obtained with pure Norwegian cod liver oil in original liquid state. In Coco Cod you have the benefit of the finest, purest oil with the taste of rich chocolate.—Adv.

Are you ashamed you live in Xenia?

When you travel you don't register from New York City—do you?

No, Sirree—you take the hotel pen and proudly write down Xenia, Ohio, and even in the smoking compartment it's "the greatest little town in the world."

But—let's take a peep into our coat pocket and see if it's The McDorman-Pumphrey Co. label—

Surely if Xenia is worth bragging about when you are away it must be something more than just a place in which to sleep and eat.

Xenia clothiers can give you today and any day, as fashionable, as fitting and as economical a clothing service as any two cities that have a city hall—and since you are living here—prospering here and making your money and your friends here—is it any more than right that you should make your clothing purchases here?

KIWANIS CLUB SHOW PLEASES AUDIENCE IN XENIA THURSDAY

A new idea in home-talent entertainment was inaugurated by the Xenia Kiwanis Club, at the Jean B. Elwell Auditorium, Thursday night, the popularity of the novel program was attested by the audience that filled the theater.

Although the program opened with the showing of the movie, "The Navigator," featuring Buster Keaton, the program in which several well-known local performers appeared, was the big drawing card of the evening.

A clever novel act, one of the big hits of the show, was presented by Mrs. C. W. Adair and Miss Helen Hurley. Both possess good voices, which blended well with their first number was a popular air, with words arranged to fit the audience. They carried flashlights and singled out well-known Kiwanians and other members of the audience, while singing verses about each person.

Their act included several piano numbers, popular songs, by Miss Hurley, "Just Been Wondering" and "Dreamer of Dreams" solo by Mrs. Adair, and "Remembering" as a closing number.

One of the most humorous bits was contributed by Charles A. Bone, as "Dr. Seabone," who gave a "health talk" that aroused high humor in the audience. Completed with the introduction of a device, a la Ed Wynn, which gauged the proper mastication, the act was novel and well received.

R. C. Hayward and Elbert L. Babb, who are well known to Xenia home-talent audiences, appeared in a skit entitled "The Mariners-Modern-Not Ancient." The comedians were introduced while on the U. S. S. "Aces Full," lost somewhere on the open sea, with Mr. Hayward as captain and Mr. Babb as first mate, in black-face. After being shipwrecked on the Island of Bum, they introduced a clever radio device. Each "tuned in" on various stations and songs and jokes on members of the audience followed.

The program closed with a minstrel act by The Society Entertainers of Washington, C. H., who donated their services and who greatly augmented the program. The act included Ora L. Saunders, "marshall of merriment" former Keith vaudeville performer; Perce Pearce, Earl Binns, Thomas Craig, Jr., and Adam Bernhardt. Mr. Saunders, Mr. Bernhardt and Mr. Binns were dressed in Colonial costume and messrs. Craig and Pearce were end-men. Their harmony work was well appreciated by the audience, as were their solo numbers. The minstrel note, always popular with local audiences, provided good entertainment.

The evening's hilarity began with the showing of "The Navigator" featuring the inimitable Buster Keaton. The experiences of the comedian with his hoped-to-be-intended on a ship set adrift on the open sea, furnished material for one of the cleverest comedies shown here. The picture was obtained and shown by the Kiwanis Club through the courtesy of J. T. Hibbert, manager of the Bijou Theater.

The entire proceeds of the show will be used by the club in sponsoring welfare work in the city the coming year. The show was the first effort of the club before an audience. Musical accompaniment for the entire program was furnished by an orchestra composed of R. E. Dunkel, W. E. Currie, Dr. A. B. Kester of the Ki-Bo Orchestra, Miss Lucille Denham and Carrol Breakfield.

POLICE ARREST MAN WANTED FOR SERIES OF CRIMES IN OHIO

Ralph D. Lewis alias Jacob Edwards, wanted in Kenton, O., and Delaware, O., on a number of charges which include forgery, stealing autos, breaking out of jail and obtaining money under false pretense, was arrested Thursday night by local police on a warrant issued in Delaware. He was returned to Delaware Thursday night in the custody of the Delaware sheriff to face several charges.

Lewis or Edwards is wanted in Kenton for breaking jail, in Delaware for stealing two autos, forging a check for $200 and passing a bogus note for $500, and obtaining money under false pretense.

MOREHOUSE TO PLAY WILBERFORCE FIVE

Wilberforce University, with a court record of nine games won out of eleven played this season, will play Morehouse College, of Atlanta, Ga., at Wilberforce Monday night February 16.

Morehouse College had for several years been intercollegiate colored champions until dethroned by Wilberforce last year.

Morehouse was defeated by Wilberforce earlier in the season by a score of 32 to 28 in a close and interesting game, and the battle Monday should be a repetition of the earlier struggle.

The visitors are well coached by R. T. Harvey, a former Colgate star athlete and is composed of former Evanston, Ill., high school basketball stars. Gayles is the principal star of the Georgia quintet.

CLINE BOUND OVER

Ralph Cline, 19, Davies, W. Va., has been bound over to Common Pleas Court by Police Judge E. D. Smith on a charge of forging a check on the Criterion Clothing Store for $20 and stealing clothes valued at $80 from Homer J. Hicks, Hill Street. In default of payment of $500 bond, he is being held in the Greene County Jail.

With Amazing Speed It Stops That Tough Hang On Cough That Racks Your Whole Body

For simple coughs any simple sweet sugary cough syrup will probably do.

But when you want to throw out of your system one of those old timers that simply won't be conquered, but lingers on and on causing sleepless nights and days of torment then you've just got to have a real cough medicine.

Then you must ask your druggist for a bottle of Bronchiline Emulsion for the harder and tougher and tighter they come the more joy Bronchiline gets in knocking them out.

Bronchiline isn't a cheap cough conqueror, mind you, for first raters are never cheap. But if you are one of the unlucky ones that a persistent, health destroying cough is pushing towards the grave, get a bottle today and notice how the first dose takes right hold and soothes the terrible soreness.

Often three or four doses brings blessed relief and half a bottle forces the most stubborn cough into submission.

"A bottle of magic" one old man calls Bronchiline Emulsion. He was all worn out and ready to give up when a friend brought him the good news about Bronchiline.

Don't let a cough hang on—it's dangerous company—Get rid of it quick. Ask Sayre and Hemphill or any up to the times druggist for a bottle of Bronchiline Emulsion. It's a good medicine to have around the house because it contains no chloroform or dope and often two or three doses will stop any ordinary cough. Adv.

WASTED TAXES

Only fifty cents of the dollar you pay in taxes goes for schools, roads and other public improvements. The rest is waste and "gravy for the boys."

Governor Vic Donahey of Ohio says the taxpayer's dollar is never more than fifty per cent. potent—because of politics.

"It is hard to secure the enactment of any law that has no jobs attached and has nothing to recommend it except its merits," he asserts.

Because the voters liked his program of economy, Governor Donahey, a Democrat, was re-elected by 176,000 last November at the same time Ohio went for the Republican President by 700,000.

He has written an article for THE COUNTRY GENTLEMAN that bristles with his fight against wasted taxes—waste that is rampant everywhere. Read Fifty-Cent Tax Dollars, in the February 14th issue now on sale.

Plunder Government

Herbert Quick says that the rotten spot in American politics is county government. County commissions and county courts spend millions and no taxpayer knows where the money goes. Maybe they're honest—surely they're wasteful.... THE COUNTRY GENTLEMAN is advocating reform in county government, with a paid county manager—a business man—in charge. Read The County Ring, in the February 28th issue.

E. Phillips Oppenheim

You're not too late to begin E. Phillips Oppenheim's latest and greatest mystery story—Stolen Idols. It will be followed by Zane Grey's newest novel, The Deer Stalker, and other serials this year by Clarence Budington Kelland and Albert Payson Terhune. You can read them first in THE COUNTRY GENTLEMAN.... There are two or three short stories each week besides—by such favorite authors as Edith Barnard Delano, Arthur B. Reeves (Craig Kennedy, detective), Konrad Bercovici and others.

Cow Country Romance

The days of romance and adventure in the Western cow country are gone but not forgotten. When the old trail drivers meet, they tell again the thrilling tales of the long drives from Texas to Montana, of fights with Indians and desperadoes, when a man had to be quick with his rope and quicker with his gun.... In the February 14th issue of THE COUNTRY GENTLEMAN J. Frank Dobie tells some of the wild adventures of The Old Trail Drivers.

Sin of Home Missions

Competition in religion makes the country church the sore spot in American religious life. Too many churches, or no church at all—this is the story in thousands of communities. Why? Dr. Charles J. Galpin, sociologist of the Department of Agriculture, lays the blame squarely on the boards of Home Missions. His article, The Sin of the Home Missions, in the February 14th issue of THE COUNTRY GENTLEMAN, is brutally frank—but frankly true.

Radio Made Easy

A part of THE COUNTRY GENTLEMAN each week is a radio section, conducted by Henry M. Neely, that will help you to buy or make a set—diagnose your radio troubles and prescribe the remedy.

Another part of THE COUNTRY GENTLEMAN is a women's department that is in itself a weekly women's magazine—with 10-cent patterns, home furnishing, new tested recipes, health and child welfare, and those little helps that make house-keeping easy.

CEDARVILLE FIVE WINS OVER TIME TILT WEDNESDAY

Cedarville College defeated Spencian College of Cleveland Wednesday night at the Alford Memorial Gymnasium in Cedarville by a score of 33 to 32 in a game that required five minutes overtime play to decide.

Cedarville held a comfortable lead at the half when it was out in front by a score of 18 to 9, but a strong comeback in the final half enabled the visitors to tie the score and then force in the lead by two points. Shortly before the regular playing time ended, Rockhold, Cedarville substitute center, caged a fielder that tied the score, Cedarville winning out in the overtime period by the narrow margin, of one point.

McClain, right forward for the losers was the principal star of the game. The sturdy forward made eight field goals and one free throw for seventeen points, more than half of his team's score.

"Walk" Taylor, center for Cedarville, a former Central High School basketball star was the bright spot in his team's victory with eleven points.

Cedarville College girls' team had little trouble in winning from Urbana Junior College girls by a score of 45 to 3 in the preliminary. The lineup and summary:

Cedarville (33)	Cleveland (32)
Nagley	McClain
Bates	Obert
Taylor	Young
Currie	Smith
Townley	Miller

Substitutions: Rockhold for Taylor, Neil for Young. Field goals—Taylor 4, Bates 3, Nagley 3, Rockhold 1, Townley 1, McClain 8, Obert 1, Young 1, Smith 3. Free goals—Taylor 3, Nagley 2, Bates 2, Townley 2, Young 1, McClain 1, Neil 2, Miller 2.

CENTRAL PRIMED FOR COLLEGE FIVE

Central High School will meet the Alpha Tau Omega Fraternity of Wittenberg College in a basketball game Friday night at the Central gymnasium that should develop into one of the best games played this season.

The Wittenberg fraternity visited Xenia earlier in the season and was nosed out by a 40 to 30 score in a free scoring battle.

Several former Wittenberg College stars in both football and basketball are with the upstate team, it is said, and it will come to Xenia for the second time Friday night greatly strengthened.

The A. T. O. boys should give the locals a fine workout in preparation for the game with Roosevelt High of Dayton next week, which is counted upon as being probably the most important game of the season.

A preliminary to the Central-A. T. O. game between the high school second team and an All Star team picked from the class of the High School League of Sunday School Basketball Teams will be played. This game should also be well worth

RE-REGISTRATION OF SCOUT TROOPS NOW IS BEING CONDUCTED

Re-registration work of Troop No. 1, Boy Scouts of America, has been practically completed with this troop recruited to more than its quota of last year, and attention is now being directed to recruiting Troop No. 2 up to its full strength, according to Scoutmaster R. H. Kingsbury.

Troop 1 now has about eighteen members, several more than last year while Troop 2 has about a dozen members of the thirty-five desired.

Scoutmaster Kingsbury declared that re-registration efforts will be continued at the meeting at the Parish House, Whiteman Street, next Tuesday night of Troop 2. The full quota is desired so that the report may be sent in to scout headquarters in Dayton.

Leigh M. Nisbet, former scoutmaster of the local troops, now connected with the Hoover and Allison Company at its factory at Kansas City, Mo., will probably attend the Tuesday meeting, it is said, and give a short talk on scout movements. Mr. Nisbet attended many of the scout meetings in Kansas City and has many of the scout meetings in Kansas City and has many interesting things in store for the local scouts, it is said.

The W. C. A. met at the home of Mrs. Mollie Thomas Friday afternoon.

Mrs. Cora Davis, Tuesday, visited her brother, Mr. Wolfe, who is confined at the St. Elizabeth Hospital, with two broken limbs.

OSBORN RESIDENTS SCORE REMOVAL OF AIR SUPPLY DEPOT

Osborn citizens passed a lengthy resolution Wednesday night flaying the air service for its proposal to remove Wilbur Wright Field from its present site at Fairfield to Middle-town, Pa.

Contents of a letter received by Rep. Charles Brand from Maj. General Mason M. Patrick, chief of the army air service, a copy of which has been received by Mayor Harry E. Frahn, of Osborn, comes in for special and severe censor.

It is mentioned in the letter that Gen. Patrick declared the move was being made to consolidate the work of supplying the air service as a measure of economy. The motives are classed in the resolution as "illogical and without any economical spirit."

It is further alleged in the resolution that Gen. Patrick proposed removing Chanute and Rantoul Fields to Wilbur Wright Field and the same buildings which he condemns in one paragraph, he outlines as fit for continued duty and refers to them as being of "fair value and will be made use of for air service purposes."

Demand for an inquiry into the proposed removal is made a part of the resolution.

The following is asserted in one part of the resolution: "It would seem from this correspondence and newspaper items that a part of the program to remove the field, including the moving of Rantoul and Chanute Fields to Wilbur Wright Field, is another unjustifiable expenditure of the public funds raised by levying taxes upon an over-burdened income-taxpaying citizenship and this proposed move would indicate either the intention to use some of the very buildings which he complained would be costly to repair, or else the intention to erect new buildings at Wilbur Wright Field to accommodate the contingents from these two other fields."

It is urged that opposition to financing the move be made in the event no economical measures are shown by such special investigation.

McClelland Neighborhood

Will Spitzer has moved to the Spitzer farm on Upper Bellbrook Pike, recently vacated by C. W. Squires. Jesse Sanders who formerly lived in this neighborhood is now located in Cuba in charge of the Frigidario branch of Delco Light Co., Dayton. On account of inclemency of weather there was not a very large attendance at the Scammahorn sale. Very fair prices were realized on stock.

The passing of Mrs. Chester Bradstreet is a matter of sincere regret in this community where they lived for sometime. She was a good neighbor and a friend to everyone. Probably no woman in the county had a larger circle of real friends.

What one Woman learned 35 Years ago

Years ago when the first spoonful of Calumet Baking Powder was used, one housewife learned the secret of success on bake-day. She found that what she had thought bad luck in the past was really the fault of inferior leaveners.

Over a third of a century has passed since that housewife experienced the perfect results that came from using

CALUMET THE WORLD'S GREATEST BAKING POWDER

Today millions upon millions have realized the same satisfaction that goes with using a perfect baking powder.

Calumet has more friends than any of the other brands on the market today—women who after one trial found that for uniform, wholesome bakings it has no equal.

Don't forget that a few cents worth of unreliable baking powder can ruin several dollars worth of other ingredients used in baking. Use the best and know what the results will be.

113-And when he did the splitting he saved the knots of pine; for in evenings after quitting for candles they were ne. He borrowed books in numbers and read before his slumbers, instead of whittling or whistling "On the Rhine." He often went debating with Douglas on the stump, and soon it was elating to see old Douglas hump. He knew just where to sputter, just what words right to utter-he made old Douglas stutter and kept him on the jump.

114-The Southern states said: "We'll secede if Lincoln is elected." And soon they did the fateful deed-the Union they rejected. They filled their guns with powder and fed their soldiers chowder, each day they hollowed louder and all their forts inspected. Said Abe: "Let's have some volunteers. Our union must not fail." The north responded loud with cheers and thousands heard the call. They drove back Hill and Robert Lee and went with Sherman to the sea. At last Abe set the negroes free and made them freemen, all.

115-Just a country rail splitter rose to a job supreme; for he was not a quitter without the push and steam. He did his rail splitting and never thought of quitting, for he knew he was fitting himself for his great dream. And when we read about him, about his politics, we never stop to doubt him, we know he played his great tricks. His cards were on the table, and in his barn or stable, his garret or his gable, he met no crooked cliques.

116-A local barber says he never has to oil his shears of late. The vaseline in the young men's hair does the trick. By the way, you will be interested in reading the "Beauty Shops-Barbers" classification in the first column on this page today. Turn to it now.

STOP SIGNS TO MARK MAIN STREETS WILL BE ERECTED SOON

With warmer weather at hand, preparations are under way to mark all streets in the city intersecting with main thoroughfares, with stop signs, as provided by the new traffic ordinance and the state law governing main market roads and inter-county highways.

The new ordinance declares that all streets intersecting with Main, Detroit and Market Streets shall be equipped with stop signs placed at a distance of 100 feet from the intersection. This will call for about fifteen signs, it is said.

Different types of signs are being considered by City Manager S. O. Hale and the Greene County Auto Club, which will bear the expense jointly with the city.

The signs will probably be in the shape of a shield with the words, "City Regulations" at the upper part, the word, "STOP" in the center, and the word, "MAIN THOROUGHFARE" in bold letters in the middle. At the lower part will be the words, "Greene County Auto Club."

Bids for the signs will be received by the City Commissioners from the Sclafoni Sign Company, of Massillon, Ohio, the Stempco Sign Company, of Dayton, and several other concerns. It is said.

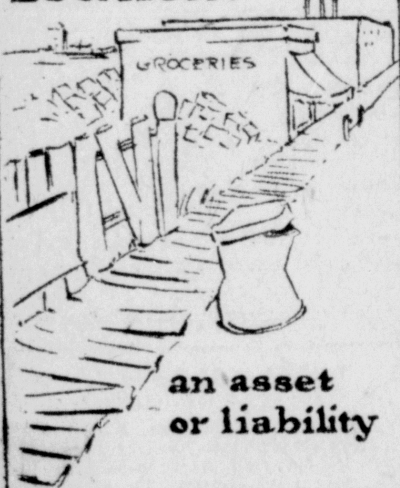

At each intersection the word, "Stop" will be stenciled on the pavement, and at many of the dangerous corners in the city where intersecting streets have not been designated main thoroughfares, the word, "Slow" will probably be stenciled.

Market Street will be marked early in the spring from Mechanic Street east to Columbus Street.

STORE LOCATION -

The location of a retail store can be its best asset or its worst liability.

Proper store location is one of the most vital problems of retailing. A poor location causes failure even when sound merchandising principles are practiced.

Old tumble-down structures, empty buildings, billboards, or other unattractive features near a store often drive people to the other side of the street. Most women avoid smoke, side of the street is more pleasant than the other in these particulars; it will be preferred by pedestrians.

Analyze the passing traffic in regard to the type of goods sold. Large crowds of people passing by a store on their way to or from work are not usually customers for most types of goods.

In starting a retail store it need not be thought that because the competitors already in business show small sales and apathy that there is no potential market. Frequently a new and thrifty merchant not only makes his own business successful, but the business of his competitors as well.

XII—A NEW ALLY

CYNTHIA had expected the worst of that evening. She had thought that probably she and Madame Leland would sit facing one another for a dreary hour or two, misunderstanding each other perfectly. But a surprise was in store for her.

At half past eight the doorbell jangled impatiently; a moment later Louella Leland and her husband, Stanley Clark, were announced. Cynthia had met Stanley Clark only a few times, and hardly knew him. But that evening, as Mrs. Leland and her daughter retired to the library for a private confab, he turned to Cynthia with a boyish grin that she found delightful.

"First chance we've had to talk," he observed, seating himself beside her. "How do you like our town by this time? Does it seem awfully slow?"

"Oh, not at all!" exclaimed Cynthia fervently. "Anything but that. I hear that you rather startled the community this noon by lunching with a handsome stranger who was innocently glad to see you," he commented; Cynthia would have been angry with him, but his smile disarmed her. "I don't blame you. I should think you'd have been glad to see anyone you'd known before you landed here. Oh, I know what this town can do! I came here to represent my firm just a few months before I was married, and for a while I thought it was the funniest place. Then after I met Louella and engaged, I thought it was worse—you can't draw a long breath without having somebody run and tell someone else about it."

Cynthia smiled, wondering whether Madame Leland had been able to manage this son-in-law as she did her own children. She longed to ask Stanley, but felt that it would somehow be disloyal.

"You'll like it here when you know the people," he went on, taking a cigar out of his case, and then apparently reconsidering and putting it back again. "But it's a gossip town, there's no question of that. Tell me, when's Jim coming back?"

"In a week or so, I think," she answered. "He said that when he went west he might look into those investments of Madame Leland's, but she made while he was away with me, on our honeymoon."

Stanley raised his eyebrows sharply, but Madame Leland and Louella, who had just then, and returned to the room just then, and nothing further was said.

Cynthia went home the next morning, giving the excuse that she wanted a book she had been reading a few days before. In reality she wanted to see how her kitten, Mark, was getting along, and to warn the maids not to feed him too much. She walked along slowly, planning to make her cutting last as long as possible. Madame Leland had said that when she returned they would so shopping together, and Cynthia was not looking forward to the trip with any pleasure. Her mother-in-law was always extremely unpleasant to the shop girls, speaking curtly to them, insisting on being waited on at once, no matter how many people were ahead of her, and frequently insisting on being shown a number of articles and then not buying any.

"I was just looking," she would say haughtily to the disgruntled shop girl, and saunter away, and on the one expedition of the sort that she and Cynthia had gone on together, Cynthia had returned later and bought something of each girl who had been so treated.

She was wondering as she approached her own home whether she could possibly take Mark back to Madame Leland with her. He would be such a company, somehow. But of course it was out of the question. Madame Leland wouldn't have an animal of any kind in the house.

Nearing the house, she noticed a number of children playing on the lawn; she knew that two of them lived next door, and it was only when she saw that they were chasing her kitten that she felt at all disturbed. Then she began to hurry.

Cynthia ran forward crying, Mark!

"They mustn't do that; he's such a little thing—and he isn't used to children; they'll frighten him," she thought, as she ran along.

Just before she reached the house, one of the children nearly caught the kitten, who, apparently much frightened, darted toward the street blindly. Cynthia ran forward, calling, "Mark! Mark!"

But he did not see her. In an instant he had gone dashing into the street, just as a high-powered roadster swung round the corner. Cynthia screamed, and ran forward, but she was too late. The driver of the car slowed down and swung to one side, to stop, but Cynthia's gay little black kitten lay lifeless at the side of the street.

Cynthia hardly knew what she did. In reality she sank down on the curb and had hysterics, while the young man who had been driving the roadster bent over her and frantically tried to calm her.

"You killed my kitten—You killed my kitten—You killed my kitten—"

"I'll get you another—honestly, I'll get you another—honestly, I'll get you another—"

"I don't want another cat, and you can't do anything," declared Cynthia, and went stumbling into the house.

Your Income Tax

No. 20

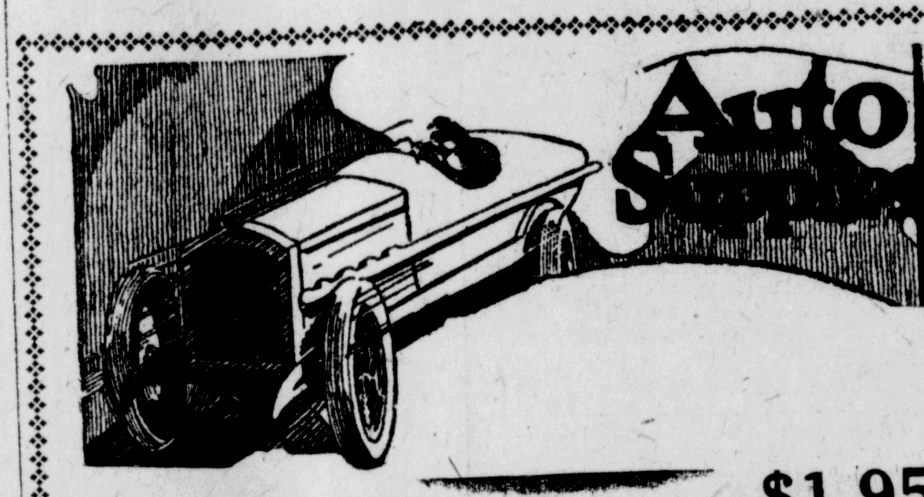

Bad debts may be deducted from gross income in computing net income only for the year in which they are ascertained to be worthless and charged off the books of the taxpayer. The necessity for this provision of the law is obvious. If a bad debt were allowed as a deduction without requirement that it be charged off the books, the certainty of its worthlessness would be left open to question. If a bad debt were allowed as a deduction in the year in which it was ascertained to be worthless, such charges could be unduly accumulated.

The taxpayer should attach to his return a statement showing the propriety of any deduction claimed for a bad debt. Where the surrounding circumstances show that a debt is worthless and uncollectible and that legal action, in all probability, would not avail, proof of these facts is sufficient evidence of its worthlessness.

The difference between the face value of a note and the amount received in compromise is an allowable deduction, provided the debtor has no assets out of which the entire amount may be collected, by suit. However, where the debt is compromised, the debtor having assets out of which the entire amount could have been collected through legal action, the difference between the amount received in compromise and the amount claimed, whether admitted or disputed, is not an allowable deduction as a bad debt.

Unpaid loans made to needy relatives with little or no exception of their return are not deductible, but are regarded as gifts. Where a creditor continues to extend credit to a debtor, a debt may not be charged off as worthless. If a bad debt is given it can not be claimed, as it is then regarded as a gift, which is not an allowable deduction. A valid debt proved to be worthless is not always a proper deduction. For example, unpaid amounts representing wages, salaries, rentals, or similar items of taxable income are not allowable as deductions unless included in the return for the year in which such deduction is sought or in a previous year. The fact that expected income was not received does not decrease the amount of taxable income.

RESCUE OF COLLINS IS 48 HOURS AWAY

YOUTH KILLED AT ROXANNA CROSSING

TESTS SHOW NO FISSURE WILL AID WORKERS

Drillers Cannot Find Crevice To Expedite Reaching Floyd

Cave City, Ky., Feb. 13.—There is no short cut to Floyd Collins.

Long hours of drilling and digging throughout the night disclosed today that no fissure will expedite the removal of the entombed cave explorer.

When the core drill, fifteen feet from where the shaft was being sunk, reached the depth of 65 feet, a tunnel was disclosed. But the drill test in the bottom of the shaft revealed no such tunnel.

This means that a tunnel drilled through hard limestone will have to be cut to the point where the test disclosed the fissure, so that it might be used as a starting point from which side-drifting will begin for the cavern where the entombed Floyd lies, either dead or alive.

This will consume at least forty-eight hours.

"We are not discouraged by the drill test," H. T. Carmichael, director of the operations, said, "although it was a disappointment to us that no crevice was found similar to the one which the drill showed when we made the previous test about 5 feet south-east of the shaft."

"The results of this second test means that we will have to cut laterally in one and possibly several directions when we get down to the level at which Collins is believed to be."

"Although it will be harder to dig through limestone than through muck, it will be much easier in regard to the timbering and will save us considerable time."

At 9:40 o'clock this morning everyone was ordered to leave the pit by Carmichael. The import of the order has not yet been determined. There still remains the possibility that a minor cavern may exist under another part of the shaft, but this it was said, will be relatively unimportant so far as expediting digging is concerned.

At Cave City the military inquiry sitting to hear testimony regarding the Sand cave district, went into its fourth day's session. No list of witnesses had been announced and it was regarded as likely the session would be only continuance of the automatic testimony of hill folk crowded into the record through the persistent questioning of the five officer lawyers who compose the court.

That the shaft is the only feasible method of rescuing Collins; that the work of the troops here has been a matter for general commendation and that an acetylene torch could not have been used in effecting a rescue are the things the state of Kentucky is attempting to prove through its inquiry.

Lieutenant Governor H. H. Denhardt presiding, said the court would continue sessions over Saturday at least.

LION KILLS YOUNG GIRL TRAINER IN ESCAPE FROM CAGE

Manila, Feb. 13.—Crashing through the steel bars that separated it from the girl performer who was putting the animal through its tricks, a circus tiger at a Manila carnival show this afternoon killed the young woman.

A quick minded Filipino detective in the audience shot and killed the blood maddened jungle beast just as it was leaping from the stage on which it had ended the girl's life into the midst of the crowded seats encircling the ring.

So quickly did the killing occur that circus employees had no opportunity to come to the girl's rescue. The shot felling the tiger as it hurtled through the air toward the audience quelled the panic which occurred.

AMNESIA VICTIM ADMITS FURNACE MURDER—POLICE SCOUT ODD STORY

Birmingham, Ala., Feb. 13.—An unidentified man, who declares he remembers having "murdered a preacher's wife and shoving her body into a furnace," was held by police here today.

The man was apparently about thirty years old and well dressed, walked into police headquarters and requested that officers aid him in "finding himself."

He did not know his name or where he was, he declared, but did have a hazy "recollection of having burned a preacher's wife in a furnace."

THINK KELLOGG MAY QUIT POST BECAUSE OF PARIS QUESTION

Believe Action Would Save Embarrassment To Coolidge

London, Feb. 13.—Friends of United States Ambassador Kellogg said today "they would not be surprised if he offered to resign as secretary of state," if it would save President Coolidge from embarrassment because of the part Kellogg took in signing the Paris financial agreement.

Kellogg would become secretary of state March 4, the date Charles E. Hughes leaves that office.

The American embassy denied that Kellogg was delaying his departure from London to avoid appearing before a senate committee to explain the Paris agreement.

Kellogg will depart from London February 17 as originally scheduled, it was said.

The embassy emphasized that Kellogg was not personally disturbed by the senatorial criticism.

If senatorial antagonism toward the agreement and animosity toward Kellogg continue when he arrives in the United States, one of his first acts would be to submit his resignation to the president, to be accepted or declined, friends said.

The embassy commented today upon a statement in the London Telegraph.

The telegraph said changes made in the Paris agreement after it had been signed, were attached to the main agreement and not incorporated in it. These changes, the Telegraph said, were deletion of the words: "After deduction of sums allotted for other treaty changes." These words were in the paragraph which awarded the United States two and one quarter per cent of the Dawes annuities.

The embassy said these changes were "trivial." The embassy emphasized further that the American delegation was responsible for article twenty-seven of the agreement. This article specifically provides that the agreement does not affect the status of other treaties.

INVESTIGATION OF OHIO STATE POISONING TO BE REVIVED BY COLLEGE DEAN

Authorities of School Confident Poisoner Can Be Run Down By Intensive Inquiry—Will Question
Upper Classmen

Columbus, O., Feb. 13.—Ohio State University authorities are convinced that the deaths of two students from strychnine poisoning and the narrow escape of four other students were due to the work of a deliberate criminal, Dr. E. F. McCampbell, dean of the O. S. U. college of medicine, said at noon today.

Dr. McCampbell is in charge of the renewed investigation into the poisoning mystery.

Columbus, O., Feb. 13.—Investigation of the Ohio State University poisoning mystery is to be reopened today at the university with Dr. E. F. McCampbell, dean of the college of medicine in charge.

Police Prosecutor Chester said today university authorities had advised him they were confident the poisoner could be run down by an intensive inquiry. Chester said he plans to devote his afternoons aiding the university officials in the probe, and had offered the authorities all the resources of the police department. City detective Carson, who aided Chester in his original investigation of the mystery, has been detailed to aid Dr. McCampbell, it was announced.

It is understood that university officials propose to question upper classmen of the college of pharmacy.

As part of the investigation, Dr. Thompson, president of the university, who is expected to take an active part in the probe, will address a mass meeting of pharmacy students Saturday afternoon when he is expected to appeal for aid in solving the mystery.

University officials for the present, at least, will not reopen the dispensary at the pharmacy college, where medicines have been issued at cost to students and from which the capsules strychnine, which killed two students, were issued, it was stated.

MORE THAN HUNDRED BODIES RECOVERED IN MINE DISASTER

Flags at Half Mast In Germany Because of Tragedy

Dortmund, Germany, Feb. 13.—Flags were flying at half mast here and in many other cities of Germany today as Dortmund counted its dead in one of the worst mine disasters in the history of Germany.

More than a hundred bodies have been recovered. Two rescuers, who went into the gas filled tunnels were suffocated by new gas explosions.

So far as known the accident was caused by a spark from an engine, exploding fire damp, a gas which collects in mines. The detonations shook the town like peals of thunder. All protective walls in the tunnels and shafts were said to have been thrown down, thus trapping the men.

Chancellor Luther terminated his vacation and came here to take charge of the rescue work. Special precautions have been taken to preserve order among the panic stricken population.

Baseball Family Skeleton Will Be Quietly Buried

By DAVID J. WALSH

New York, Feb. 13.—The skeleton in baseball's family closet will be tenderly laid to rest within the next forty-eight hours and thereafter will rattle no more.

Judge Landis will officiate at the obsequies and they will be simple, affecting and final. He will arrive in this city on Sunday morning and at the brief conference with the district attorney a decision will be reached as to whether Jimmy O'Connell shall be punished further for his part in the affair or permitted to go his future way unmolested.

Landis' attitude has been forecast as one of tolerance and clemency toward O'Connell, whose loss in food and honor has been deemed sufficient to cover his offense. If Landis says the word, the skeleton will have rattled its last.

As matters stand, the district attorney has let it be known that he will be guided by Landis in his future actions if any. He stands ready to indict O'Connell before the grand jury and prosecute his extradition from California. But Landis will not say the word because the man he is after is not Jimmy O'Connell.

He is an unnamed and unidentified somebody who was so much smarter than O'Connell that he covered his trail perfectly, leaving James holding the well known bag. It seems unlikely that the man in question, if he exists at all, will ever be apprehended.

With the start of another season, there will hardly be a headstone to mark the scandals dishonored grave, unless Cozy Dolan revives the issue temporarily with a civil suit for reinstatement. I am pleased to doubt that he will.

Dolan, however, will make formal application to the judge for reinstatement but it is almost certain that he will be greeted with a refusal as flat as a tailor's iron.

The district attorney did not give Cozy the clean bill of health he granted Young, Frisch and Kelly, but contented himself with the rather pointed information that Dolan's conduct during the first investigation had laid him open to a suspicion of guilt, which had not been removed in the meantime.

The judge, therefore, would have no reason to copper his own bet. It was his decision that Dolan was a guilty man and the judge is not one to admit an error while the official scorer happens to be scoring the play as a clean hit.

Disadvantage of Attachment

One of the joined-twins was ill, but both had to stay in bed because their bodies are attached. Daisy Hilton was stricken and both had to be taken off a train and sent to a Newark, N. J., hospital, where Violet spent the day reading to her sick sister.

WATCH YOUR STEP IT'S FRIDAY, 13TH

Superstitious Hold Meeting To Lay Down
Rules On Omens

The Society of Mutual Depression and Pessimism met Friday morning around the cannon on the Court House lawn.

John J. Gloom, chief priest of the department of believers in superstitions, presided at the session.

Members listened to an address by Adam Joykiller, heard talks by I. M. Sad and Miss Iva Worry, took part in a business session and passed a resolution agreeing to camp on the Court House lawn until after midnight Friday rather than take any chances going to their homes.

Reports of the committee chairman were heard at the business session. Calamity Jane Katz, head of the committee on feline omens, reported a black cat population in the city of 137 and gave addresses so that members could avoid them.

Heslin Feer, chairman of the committee on carpenters and joiners, tanners, painters and what-nots, gave detailed information as where ladders might be found extending over the sidewalk. Oliver Glass gave a report on broken mirrors and Becky Sharp read a paper on the finding of pins. Discussion centered around the question of whether the finding of a safety pin should be included in the category of omens. Conservatives won a point when they included this type of pin in the category. Liberals were pricked by the defeat. The pin question again came to a head when the question of admitting needles to the fraternity of fears was put to a motion and the "ayes" had it.

A resolution to remove knives and forks from the list of omens was introduced at noon and was tabled. Police were called in to settle an argument at the luncheon hour, when Iodora Thrill spilled salt on the table. In throwing a pinch of salt over her left shoulder she struck the "Trouble" brothers, Frank and Ernest, in the eyes. Blinded, they separated and walked around different sides of the cannon and shouted "bread and butter" afterward so loudly that restaurants did a rushing business.

The gathering remained in session after three o'clock at which time glasses of a patent medicine were passed around, guaranteed to cure falling stars, falling prices or fallen aces. The closing action of the session was a resolution thanking the stars and the moon that the eclipse and Mrs. Rowan's send of the world party were not scheduled for a come back Friday.

It was Friday, the thirteenth.

LA FOLLETTE MEN ATTACK REPORT

Washington, Feb. 13.—The report of the special senate campaign expenditure committee, drew sharp attack today from the followers of Senator Borah for corrupt practices legislation but derided the report for not going far enough in proposing sweeping diminution of campaign expenditures.

Senator Shipstead, farmer-laborer, of Minnesota, said he favored limiting national campaign funds to $500,000 for each major party. He was a member of the investigating committee.

DUFFY TO BE CONFIRMED.

Columbus, O. Feb. 13.—Confirmation of the appointment of Thomas J. Duffy, Columbiana County by Governor A. V. Donahoe, to be a member of the Industrial Commission for a period of six years, is to be granted by the Senate. It was decided here today at a caucus of Republican members of that body.

RUSSELL CONNOR DIES AT ESPEY HOSPITAL HERE

Clyde Ewing Seriously Injured When Pennsy Train Hits Auto

Russell Connor, 20, son of Mr. and Mrs. James Connor, New Burlington, died in Espey Hospital, this city, Friday noon, about 12 o'clock, from injuries received when the machine in which he and Clyde Ewing, 25, New Burlington, were riding, was struck by a fast Pennsylvania passenger train at the Roxanna Crossing, at 10:30 o'clock.

Ewing is in the hospital, suffering from a broken hip and other serious injuries but is thought to have a chance to recover.

He is the son of William Ewing, and is employed as a carpenter in New Burlington with his father.

Connor and Ewing were riding in a Ford roadster through Roxanna to Mount Holly where they were going to look at a gasoline engine at the home of Roy Smith.

The crossing where the accident happened had no watchman or gates and it is thought that the elevator of the Farmers' Exchange obstructed the view of the young men in the machine. They drove onto the track, directly in the path of the oncoming train, which was running at a speed of about forty-five miles an hour.

The crossing is three miles west of New Burlington.

The Ford roadster in which they were riding was completely demolished and both occupants were thrown a great distance.

The train was immediately stopped and trainmen picked up the injured young men and brought them to Xenia where Dr. W. A. Galloway, Pennsylvania railroad surgeon was called and gave them first-aid treatment and rushed both to the Espey Hospital.

Connor died without regaining consciousness. While Ewing's injuries are serious, as shown by X-rays, he is thought to have a chance to recover.

The train which struck the machine was east bound and the machine was going west when the accident happened.

X-rays show Connor received a broken neck which caused his death. He was unconscious when picked up by trainmen several hundred feet from the crossing.

Ewing's most serious injury is a fracture of the left hip. He was stunned and only partially conscious when found. His hip was set by physicians Friday afternoon.

The men were driving in an open roadster, without curtains.

Connor is survived by his parents and two brothers, Raymond and Rufus, both at home. Ewing's father, and two sisters live at New Burlington. Neither Connor nor Ewing was married.

According to witnesses Gould had talked with the occupants. Evidently satisfied he started toward the walk. One of the men alighted, followed and shot Gould once in the back.

Sand Cave, Feb. 13.—The flare of star shells, the whine of radio, the staccato click of Morse, the buzz of telephones—these will carry to a waiting world the message: "Floyd Collins lives," or "Floyd Collins is dead."

WIRELESS, WIRELESS ROCKETS, RADIO, TO TELL RESCUE STORY

Be it night or day when the workers in the shaft reach the Sand Cave prisoner, nearly 100 newspapermen gathered here from all parts of the country have arranged to flash news from Sand Cave. Telegraph wires, linking Cave City with the news centers of the country, have been installed in the little Dixie hotel here. And in that hotel, one group of reporters will await the word from their co-workers at Sand Cave, nine miles away over the ratty rock filled roads.

If Collins is found at night, a green star shell will emblazon its message of death in the sky. A white will be the color of life.

One newspaper will crack out the news in continental by radio to its office, 100 miles away.

In addition to this, airships, huge locusts in the field nearby, are awaiting the news when pictorial records of Collins release from the shaft made by corps of photographers, is entrusted to their pilots for deliverance within a few hours to the nation's metropolitan dailies.

KESTER BOUND OVER TO HIGHER COURT

Ralph Kester, Xenia, charged with distributing and exhibiting obscene literature and pictures, waived examination when brought into Police Court Friday noon and was bound over to Common Pleas Court under $1,000 bond. In default of bond he was lodged in the County Jail.

Kester is alleged to have committed the offense on January 5, but left the city when school authorities enlisted the aid of the law.

A warrant was sworn out for his arrest and authorities in Collinsville, Ill., ten miles north of St. Louis, arrested him last Monday, as he was apparently making his way West.

He was returned to Xenia and pleaded not guilty to the charge when arraigned in Police Court.

GIRL IMPROVES

The condition of Anna Hipshire, 19, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Aaron Hipshire, South West Street, who swallowed a quantity of concentrated lye, Monday evening in an attempt to commit suicide was thought slightly improved by her physician Dr. P. D. Espey, Friday.

The girl has been unable to give further light on what prompted her to attempt suicide but members of her family feel that a sudden fit of despondency caused her act.

Mr. Samuel Anderson of the James-

town pike, is confined to his home with grip.

ALLOW ARMSTRONG'S BILL AS PROSECUTOR IN LATIMER TRIAL

Common Pleas Judge R. L. Gowdy has ruled that Attorney Harry C. Armstrong, shall receive $500 compensation for his two-day services as special prosecuting attorney on December 22 and 23 in the trial of the State of Ohio against C. W. Latimer for first degree murder, in addition to the salary he earned when appointed regular prosecutor during the unfinished term of J. K. Williamson, resigned.

Armstrong was first appointed special prosecutor on the eve of the trial with Judge E. D. Smith but served only two days before being named successor to Williamson.

Armstrong and Smith each presented a bill for $500 for their service as special prosecutors, but payment was refused Armstrong by the County Auditor's office on the grounds that he could not legally draw the salary of special prosecutor since he was sworn in as regular prosecutor. Smith's bill was allowed.

Auditor Wead held that Armstrong was entitled to only the salary of regular prosecutor during the unfinished term amounting to about $45. Attorney General C. C. Crabbe backed up the auditor in his stand.

Surgeons, Physicians, Dentists Use Wonderful New Antiseptic

We are calling the attention of the good people of Xenia and vicinity of Kojene, the most powerful, non-poisonous, non-alcoholic, non-irritating Antiseptic known.

In this newspaper we will continue to tell the people, and especially the ailing people, to whom Kojene will prove a blessing, just exactly what physical ills it will help, and in spite of our enthusiasm for this wonderful antiseptic will stick to the truth in every statement we make.

We will not exaggerate—although some of the things we write may seem exaggerated.

Nothing equals Kojene for irritation of the antrum; for Pyorrhea and Gingivitis; for Stomatitis, Trench Mouth, pus pockets and all cases of infection.

Kojene, so we will tell more people who need it, is four times as powerful as an antiseptic than Carbolic Acid. It is much more powerful than poisonous bichloride of mercury, and will not burn or even irritate the tenderest membrane.

We will tell the readers of this paper of its wonderful and quickly effective action in Tonsillitis and sore throat; of how completely it drives out the offensive mucus of the throat and thoroughly cleans the entire nasal tract.

We will tell them of its remarkable success in the treatment of cankers in the mouth and how quickly it succeeds when used for Eczema, itching skin, ulcers, boils and skin eruptions.

And last but by no means least, we will tell them that as a germ destroying mouth wash it is as far ahead of the highly flavored and bubbling kind as daylight is to candlelight and has no nasty, disagreeable taste.

It is seventy-five times as powerful as the weak kinds whose popularity seems to lie in their weakness and the ignorance of those who use them.

A sixty cent bottle (6 ounces) of Kojene will make one-half gallon of a stringer, better and more efficient mouth wash than the high priced, doubtful ones you buy ready made. Medical men like to join in any effort to drive menacing poisons from the home and give their support to any great and worthy preparation that destroys pernicious germs and helps humanity—that is just what Kojene does.

In six ounce bottles at Sayre & Hemphill and every progressive druggist in America, 60c with the understanding that money will be returned if any purchases is dissatisfied. Complete and simple directions for treating various ailments with each bottle. Adv.

MOTHERS! HERE'S NEW FORM OF COD LIVER OIL YOUR CHILD WILL LOVE

America's largest laboratories have solved the cod liver oil problem once and for all, by creating a new form with the taste of rich cocoa. Coco Cod, as it is called, is being prescribed by physicians and recommended by teachers and scientists everywhere.

Your youngsters will love Coco Cod; they'll take it willingly. Best of all, it is wonderfully nourishing for little folks as well as grown-ups. For it contains in concentrated form the vital nerve-strengthening, blood-building elements (vitamines) which our modern food lacks.

Give your children Coco Cod and watch them thrive on it. Mothers and fathers who are tired, rundown or over-worked, find that it makes them feel alive in every fibre. Even athletes gain added vigor and rugged strength through Coco Cod.

All local druggists have Coco Cod the new easy-to-take cod liver oil with the taste of rich cocoa.

Caution: Coco Cod is sold only in liquid form, in 12-ounce bottles, never in tablets. Best results are obtained with pure Norwegian cod liver oil in original liquid state. In Coco Cod you have the benefit of the finest, purest oil with the taste of rich chocolate.—Adv.

Are you ashamed you live in Xenia?

When you travel you don't register from New York City—do you? No, Sirree—you take the hotel pen and proudly write down Xenia, Ohio, and even in the smoking compartment it's "the greatest little town in the world."

But—let's take a peep into our coat pocket and see if it's The McDorman-Pumphrey Co. label—

Surely if Xenia is worth bragging about when you are away it must be something more than just a place in which to sleep and eat.

Xenia clothiers can give you today and any day, as fashionable, as fitting and as economical a clothing service as any two cities that have a city hall—and since you are living here—prospering here and making your money and your friends here—is it any more than right that you should make your clothing purchases here?

DOGS IN MOTORCARS

LIKE the horse, the dogs find themselves living in a new world to which they are not fully adapted. Many dog owners take their pets aboard the family car when going for a drive or even a transcontinental motor trip and find them useful and congenial company. Others tie them on the running board, or let them chase the car until exhausted. The Oregon Humane Society has prepared an act of the legislature requiring fenders or guard rails to protect the dog from falling off when carried on the outside of a motor vehicle. A similar act is before the California state legislature. All state should require such protection for our best friend.

CIVILIZATION MUST KEEP ABREAST

THE remark of Dr. Charles H. LaWall, a Philadelphia chemist, in an address before the Electric Club of that city recently, that the discovery of a means of utilizing the pent-up energy in matter would, at this stage of humanity's development, be a terrible calamity, because of the danger that someone might use it to destroy the world, expresses a thought that has been in the minds of many thinkers since the war disclosed to what dreadful uses the discoveries of science may be put.

It is a question if Nature should yield up her secrets before mankind is ready to apply them wisely. It must be conceded that science has gone ahead of civilization when inventions that should be beneficial are devoted to evil purposes. Humanity, in its present stage of evolution, may be likened to children, to whom it is dangerous to entrust toys which, when properly used, are entertaining and instructive, yet may, if not carefully handled, do harm.

Winston Churchill, the British statesman, asserted not long ago that poison gas and chemical warfare constitute only the first chapter of a terrible book. We may expect, he declared, to see the discoveries of physicians and bacteriologists used for hostile purposes, in the event of another great war. In the laboratories of more than one great country, according to this authority, a study of disease—of pestilences methodically prepared for assaults on men and beasts—is being pursued. "Blight to destroy crops, anthrax to stay horses and cattle, plague to poison not armies only but whole districts—such are the lines along which military science is remorselessly advancing," says Churchill. Could any more diabolical perversion of scientific discovery be imagined?

Coming back to the topic of Dr. LaWall—the inadvisability of learning at this time how to release the pent-up energy in matter—we have the word of a great English scientist, Sir Charles Parsons, that radium contains two and one-half million times the energy of the same weight of T. N. T. Alluding, in an address before the British Association for the Advancement of Science, to the possibility that a way may be found to release instantaneously the energy in radium, Sir Charles said: "The possibility of the uncontrolled use on the part of a nation of the power which science has placed within its reach is so great a menace to civilization that the ardent wish of all reasonable people is to possess some radical means of prevention through the establishment of some form of wide and powerful control."

And this brings us to the crux of the whole matter. There is no way to arrest the progress of science. It is not desirable that it should be arrested. But if science is not to destroy us, civilization must keep abreast of it.

 Provided all those friends of mine
 With me on earth could stay.

 What awful things
 Unlawful things
 My children's children do.

I'd like to live beyond my days

 I'd like to read those future ways

The champion basketball team of Piqua has finally consented to play the third and deciding game with the Xenia team and it will take place at the rink on Saturday night of this week. Each team has one game to its credit.

I place these slices in a pan and pour sweet thin cream over them, also sprinkling them with brown sugar and dotting with bits of butter. Peeling or chipping off of paint is caused by the dampness which will not be able to reach the outside paint if the inside of the pot is also painted. Put on the inside coat first and let it dry thoroughly before applying the outside coat. Indeed, two coats are advisable, the first flat paint and second enamel."

Today's Talks

WHO AM I?

Every once in a while I get a letter asking who I am and whether I write these Talks myself and whether the name under my writings is my real name.

Just so that I may get just a little nearer to those who have been so appreciative of my simple efforts I will answer briefly, for my story is quite unimportant. The only thing important is the influence that a man gives out. Much of the man himself may be very defective.

George Matthew Adams is my real name. I am 46 years old. I am the only boy—I say boy advisedly—in a nest of four sisters, one my twin. I am the father of twin boys. I worked my way through high school in Iowa and college in Kansas. I started my business career in Chicago as an ice man and elevator man. For ten years I worked for other people determining to do each job better than it had ever been done before.

I started my present newspaper service in 1907 on a capital of debts, faith and ideas.

I began writing these daily Talks to help develop my mind and to give me an avenue of expression. I write them myself under all sorts of conditions in my office, on trains, in hotels, at home, in the country—wherever I may be. Though it takes hours from reading that I would like to do and pleasures I should like to avail myself of, still I say that the writing of these Talks is the happiest thing I do.

My father was a minister. My mother was a most unusual character. She was a lover of everything beautiful, an artist and writer of ability and a real poet at heart. She was the loveliest human being I have ever known. I tuck in a few tears as I say this. Both my father and mother died nearly 25 years ago.

My greatest business friends are the newspaper publishers who give this little space for my daily expression and who are my clients in business. I have great affection for the newspaper builders. They are the greatest agencies for good in this world.

I am just an ordinary human being running an unusual business and taking a little time off for a brief talk with other human beings. If I help and inspire that is my compensation—a thing more precious to me than words are able to express.

My "hobbies" are books, art, and people!

KIWANIS CLUB SHOW PLEASES AUDIENCE IN XENIA THURSDAY

A new idea in home-talent entertainment was inaugurated by the Xenia Kiwanis Club, at the Jean B. Edwell Auditorium, Thursday night, the popularity of the novel program was attested by the audience that filled the theater.

Although the program opened with the showing of the movie, "The Navigator" featuring Buster Keaton, the program in which several well-known local performers appeared, was the big drawing card of the evening.

A clever novel act, one of the big hits of the show, was presented by Mrs. C. W. Adair and Miss Helen Hurley. Both possess good voices, which blended well and their first number was a powerful air, with words arranged to fit the audience. They carried flashlights and singled out well-known Kiwanians and other members of the audience, while singing verses about each person.

Their act included several piano numbers, popular songs, by Miss Hurley, "Just Been Wondering" and "Dreamer of Dreams" solo by Mrs. Adair, and "Remembering" as a closing number.

One of the most humorous bits was contributed by Charles A. Bone, as "Dr. Seabone" who gave a "health talk" that aroused high humor in the audience. Completed with the introduction of a device, a la Ed Wynn, which gauged the proper masification, the act was novel and well received.

R. C. Hayward and Elbert L. Babb, who are well known to Xenia home-talent audiences, appeared in a skit entitled "The Mariners-Modern-Not Ancient." The comedians, developed while on the U. S. S. "Acres Full," lost somewhere on the open sea, with Mr. Hayward as captain and Mr. Babb as first mate, in black-face. After being ship-wrecked on the island of Bum, they introduced a clever radio feature. Each "tune in" on various stations and songs and sang to members of the audience followed.

The program closed with a minstrel act by The Society Entertainers of Washington, C. H., who donated their services and who greatly augmented the program. The act included Ora L. Saunders, "marshal of merit" former Keith vaudeville performer; Perce Pearce, Earl Binns, Thomas Craig, Jr., and Adam Bernhardt. Mr. Saunders, Mr. Bernhardt and Mr. Binns were dressed in Colonial costume and messrs. Craig and Pearce were end-men. Their harmony work was well appreciated by the audience, as were their solo numbers. The minstrel note, always popular with local audiences, provided good entertainment.

The evening's hilarity began with the showing of "The Navigator" featuring the inimitable Buster Keaton. The experiences of the comedian with his hoped-to-be-intended on a ship adrift on the open sea, furnished material for one of the cleverest comedies shown here. The picture was obtained and shown by the Kiwanis Club through the courtesy of J. T. Hibbert, manager of the Bijou Theater.

Ralph D. Lewis alias Jacob Edwards, wanted in Kenton, O., and Delaware, O., on a number of charges which include forgery, stealing autos, breaking out of jail and obtaining money under false pretense, was arrested Thursday night by local police on a warrant issued in Delaware. He was returned to Delaware Thursday night in the custody of the Delaware sheriff to face several charges.

Local police were furnished with a description of the man and Patrolmen Charles Simms, Charles Thompson and Ed Craig arrested him at the home of Mrs. Susan Mullen, South Detroit Street, where he had been rooming. He offered no resistance when arrested.

MOREHOUSE TO PLAY WILBERFORCE FIVE

Wilberforce University, with a court record of nine games won out of eleven played this season, will play Morehouse College of Atlanta, Ga., at Wilberforce Monday night February 16.

Morehouse College had for several years been intercollegiate colored champions until dethroned by Wilberforce last year.

Morehouse was defeated by Wilberforce earlier in the season by a score of 32 to 28 in a close and interesting game, and the battle Monday should be a repetition of the earlier struggle.

The visitors are well coached by R. T. Harvey, a former Colgate star athlete and is composed of former Evanston, Ill., high school basketball stars. Gayles is the principal star of the Georgia quintet.

CLINE BOUND OVER

Ralph Cline, 19, Davies, W. Va., has been bound over to Common Pleas Court by Police Judge E. D. Smith on a charge of forging a check on the Criterion Clothing Store for $20 and stealing clothes valued at $80 from Homer J. Hicks, Hill Street, in default of payment of $500 bond, he is being held in the Greene County Jail.

With Amazing Speed It Stops That Tough Hang On Cough That Racks Your Whole Body

For simple coughs any simple sweet sugary cough syrup will probably do.

But when you want to throw out of your system one of those old timers that simply won't be conquered, but lingers on and on causing sleepless nights and days of torment then you've just got to have a real cough medicine.

Then you must ask your druggist for a bottle of Bronchiline Emulsion for the harder and tougher and tighter they come the more joy Bronchiline gets in knocking them out.

Bronchiline isn't a cheap cough conqueror, mind you, for first raters are never cheap. But if you are one of the unlucky ones that a persistent, health destroying cough is pushing towards the grave, get a bottle today and notice how the first dose takes right hold and soothes the terrible soreness.

Often three or four doses brings blessed relief and half a bottle forces the most stubborn cough into submission.

"A bottle of magic" one old man calls Bronchiline Emulsion. He was all worn out and ready to give up when a friend brought him the good news about Bronchiline.

Don't let a cough hang on—it's dangerous company—Get rid of it quick. Ask Sayre and Hemphill or any up to the times druggist for a bottle of Bronchiline Emulsion. It's a good medicine to have around the house because it contains no chloroform or dope and often two or three doses will stop any ordinary cough. Adv.

WASTED TAXES

Only fifty cents of the dollar you pay in taxes goes for schools, roads and other public improvements. The rest is waste and "gravy for the boys."

Governor Vic Donahey of Ohio says the taxpayer's dollar is never more than fifty per cent. potent—because of politics.

"It is hard to secure the enactment of any law that has no jobs attached and has nothing to recommend it except its merits," he asserts.

Because the voters liked his program of economy, Governor Donahey, a Democrat, was re-elected by 176,000 last November at the same time Ohio went for the Republican President by 700,000.

He has written an article for THE COUNTRY GENTLEMAN that bristles with his fight against wasted taxes—waste that is rampant everywhere. Read Fifty-Cent Tax Dollars, in the February 14th issue now on sale.

Plunder Government

Herbert Quick says that the rotten spot in American politics is county government. County commissions and county courts spend millions and no taxpayer knows where the money goes. Maybe they're honest—surely they're wasteful.... THE COUNTRY GENTLEMAN is advocating reform in county government, with a paid county manager—a business man—in charge. Read The County Ring, in the February 28th issue.

Cow Country Romance

The days of romance and adventure in the Western cow country are gone but not forgotten. When the old trail drivers meet, they tell again the thrilling tales of the long drives from Texas to Montana, of fights with Indians and desperadoes, when a man had to be quick with his rope and quicker with his gun.... In the February 14th issue of THE COUNTRY GENTLEMAN J. Frank Dobie tells some of the wild adventures of The Old Trail Drivers.

Sin of Home Missions

Competition in religion makes the country church the sore spot in American religious life. Too many churches, or no church at all—this is the story in thousands of communities. Why? Dr. Charles J. Galpin, sociologist of the Department of Agriculture, lays the blame squarely on the boards of Home Missions. His article, The Sin of the Home Missions, in the February 14th issue of THE COUNTRY GENTLEMAN, is brutally frank—but frankly true.

E. Phillips Oppenheim

You're not too late to begin E. Phillips Oppenheim's latest and greatest mystery story—Stolen Idols. It will be followed by Zane Grey's newest novel, The Deer Stalker, and other serials this year by Clarence Budington Kelland and Albert Payson Terhune. You can read them first in THE COUNTRY GENTLEMAN.... There are two or three short stories each week besides—by such favorite authors as Edith Barnard Delano, Arthur B. Reeves (Craig Kennedy, detective), Konrad Bercovici and others.

CEDARVILLE FIVE WINS OVER TIME TILT WEDNESDAY

Cedarville College defeated Spencian College of Cleveland Wednesday night at the Alford Memorial Gymnasium in Cedarville by a score of 33 to 32 in a game that required five minutes overtime play to decide.

Cedarville held a comfortable lead at the half when it was out in front by a score of 18 to 9, but a strong comeback in the final half enabled the visitors to tie the score and then forge in the lead by two points.

Shortly before the regular playing time ended, Rockhold, Cedarville substitute center, caged a fielder that tied the score, Cedarville winning out in the overtime period by the narrow margin, of one point.

McClain, right forward for the losers was the principal star of the game. The sturdy forward made eight field goals and one free throw for seventeen points, more than half of his team's score.

"Walk" Taylor, center for Cedarville, a former Central High School basketball star was the bright spot in his team's victory with eleven points.

Cedarville College girls' team had little trouble in winning from Urbana Junior College girls by a score of 45 to 3 in the preliminary. The lineup and summary:

Cedarville (33) Cleveland (32)
Nagley RF McClain
Bates LF Obert
Taylor C Young
Currie RG Smith
Townsend LG Miller

Substitutions—Rockhold for Taylor, Nein for Young. Field goals—Taylor 4, Bates 2, Nagley 3, Rockhold 1, Townsend 1, McClain 8, Obert 1, Young 1, Smith 3. Foul goals—Taylor 3, Nagley 2, Bates 2, Townsend 2, Young 1, McClain 1, Nein 2, Miller 2.

CENTRAL PRIMED FOR COLLEGE FIVE

Central High School will meet the Alpha Tau Omega Fraternity of Wittenberg College in a basketball game Friday night at the Central gymnasium that should develop into one of the best games played this season.

The Wittenberg fraternity visited Xenia earlier in the season and was nosed out by a 40 to 30 score in a free scoring battle.

Several former Wittenberg College stars in both football and basketball are with the upstate team, it is said, and it will come to Xenia for the second time Friday night greatly strengthened.

The A. T. O. boys should give the locals a fine workout in preparation for the game with Roosevelt High of Dayton next week, which is counted upon as being probably the most important game of the season.

A preliminary to the Central-A. T. O. game between the high school second team and an All Star team picked from the class of the High School League of Sunday School Basketball Teams will be played. This game should also be well worth watching as well as the principal game.

RE-REGISTRATION OF SCOUT TROOPS NOW IS BEING CONDUCTED

Re-registration work of Troop No. 1, Boy Scouts of America, has been practically completed with this troop recruited to more than its quota of last year, and attention is now being directed to recruiting Troop No. 2 up to its full strength, according to Scoutmaster R. H. Kingsbury.

Troop 1 now has about eighteen members, several more than last year while Troop 2 has about a dozen members of the thirty-five desired.

Scoutmaster Kingsbury declared that re-registration efforts will be continued at the meeting at the Parish House, Whiteman Street, next Tuesday night of Troop 2. The full quota is desired so that the report may be sent in to scout headquarters in Dayton.

Lt. M. Nisbet, former scoutmaster of the local troops, now connected with the Hoover and Allison Company at its factory at Kansas City, Mo., will probably attend the Tuesday meeting. It is said, and give a short talk on scout movements. Mr. Nisbet attended many of the scout meetings in Kansas City and has many of the scout meetings in Kansas City and has many interesting things in store for the local scouts, it is said.

BELLBROOK

A number of farmers in the neighborhood opened their sugar camps this week.

The seats for the auditorium in the new school house have arrived.

A daughter of Edward Shaw, formerly of this township, was buried here Sunday.

Joseph Watts was in town last week looking after school delinquents.

Charles Kemp, who has been working in Dayton since last June, has returned home.

George Elliott, of near Xenia, spent a few hours with "the boys" last Wednesday.

Elmer Gibbons received a severe cut on one of his fingers a few days ago which will prevent him from working for a time.

Even the "Nail Keg Circle", that organization of destruction, failed to be moved by reports that Gabriel would blow his horn at midnight on February 6th.

The W. C. A. met at the home of Mrs. Mollie Thomas Friday afternoon.

Mrs. Cora Davis, Tuesday, visited her brother, Mr. Wolfe, who is confined at the St. Elizabeth Hospital, with two broken limbs.

The Farmers' Institute in the auditorium of the new school house on last Tuesday and Wednesday, was the first gathering to meet in the new building.

Hon. George H. Thorne, of Columbus, was a Bellbrook visitor Saturday and Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Gibbons, of Dayton, spent Wednesday in the village.

Isaac Planck desires to notify members of the "Nail Keg Circle" through their Keg-man-in-chief and attorney for that august body, Judge Marcus Shoup, that he will move on March 12, 1925.

Mrs. Mable Spahr left Friday for Virginia to be at the bedside of her mother, Mrs. John R. Whitacre, who recently suffered a stroke of paralysis.

Trustee B. F. Thomas did the Jersey grocery act last Monday night.

George W. Anthony, who has been a tenant on the Harman farm, one half mile west of town, for 15 years, moved to Dayton this week, and William Miller, who has the farm rented for the year, began where Mr. Anthony left off.

A. R. Howland, who has been under the doctor's care for a few days, is reported improving.

J. S. Turner is visiting his son, James Turner, and family, in Springfield.

Mr. and Mrs. John Weaver were Cincinnati visitors, Tuesday.

Paul Moore has moved to the Edward Ryne farm west of town.

Dr. Finley, of Xenia, spent a few hours with relatives and friends here Friday.

Charles Sauter, who recently made a sale of his personal farm property, will move to Dayton.

"A Poor Married Man" a three act drama given for the benefit of the Community Club, was presented by home talent players in the auditorium of the new school house Wednesday night, a record crowd being present to witness the performance.

The play, which was the best ever staged in the new play house, showed careful training, with all the players fitting into their respective places like a key in a lock. Mrs. Minnie Wetzel deserves much credit for making the show a profound success. Those who took part were: James Turner, Lawrence Kemp, Wilfred Gibbons, William Jobe, Gertie Thomas, Terresa Ryne, Ruth Dinwiddie and Mildred Grotfelter.

OSBORN RESIDENTS SCORE REMOVAL OF AIR SUPPLY DEPOT

Osborn citizens passed a lengthy resolution Wednesday night flaying the air service for its proposal to remove Wilbur Wright Field from its present site at Fairfield to Middletown, Pa.

Contents of a letter received by Rep. Charles Brand from Maj. General Mason M. Patrick, chief of the army air service, a copy of which has been received by Mayor Harry E. Frahn, of Osborn, comes in for special and severe censor.

It is mentioned in the letter that Gen. Patrick declared the move was being made to consolidate the work of supplying the air service as a measure of economy. The motives are classed in the resolution as "illogical and without any economical spirit."

It is further alleged in the resolution that Gen. Patrick proposed removing Chanute and Rantoul fields to Wilbur Wright Field and the same buildings which he condemns in one paragraph, he outlines as fit for continued duty and refers to them as being of "fair value and will be made use of for air service purposes."

Demand for an inquiry into the proposed removal is made a part of the resolution.

The following is asserted in one part of the resolution: "It would seem from this correspondence and newspaper items that a part of the program to remove the field, including the moving of Rantoul and Chanute fields to Wilbur Wright Field, is another unjustifiable expenditure of the public funds raised by levying taxes upon an over-burdened income-taxpaying citizenship and this proposed move would indicate either the intention to use some of the very buildings which he complained would be costly to repair, or else the intention to erect new buildings at Wilbur Wright Field to accommodate the contingents from these two other fields."

It is urged that opposition to financing the move be made in the event no economical measures are shown by such special investigation.

What one Woman learned 35 Years ago

Years ago when the first spoonful of Calumet Baking Powder was used, one housewife learned the secret of success on bake-day. She found that what she had thought bad luck in the past was really the fault of inferior leaveners.

Over a third of a century has passed since that housewife experienced the perfect results that came from using

CALUMET

THE WORLD'S GREATEST BAKING POWDER

Today millions upon millions have realized the same satisfaction that goes with using a perfect baking powder.

Calumet has more friends than any of the other brands on the market today—women who after one trial found that for uniform, wholesome bakings it has no equal.

Don't forget that a few cents worth of unreliable baking powder can ruin several dollars worth of other ingredients used in baking. Use the best and know what the results will be.

STOP SIGNS TO MARK MAIN STREETS WILL BE ERECTED SOON

With warmer weather at hand, preparations are under way to mark all streets in the city intersecting with main thoroughfares, with stop signs, as provided by the new traffic ordinance and the state law governing main market roads and inter-county highways.

The new ordinance declares that all streets intersecting with Main, Detroit and Market Streets shall be equipped with stop signs placed at a distance of 100 feet from the intersection. This will call for about fifteen signs, it is said.

Different types of signs are being considered by City Manager S. O. Hale and the Greene County Auto Club, which will bear the expense jointly with the city.

The signs will probably be in the shape of a shield with the words, "City Regulations" at the uppermost part, the word, "STOP" and "MAIN THOROUGHFARE" in bold letters in the middle. At the lower part will be the words, "Greene County Auto Club."

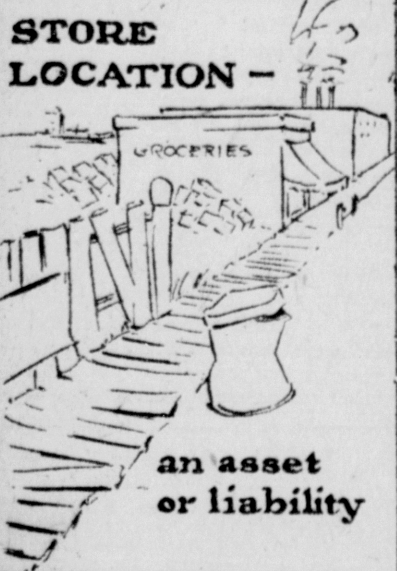

Bids for the signs will be received by the City Commissioners from the Seton Sign Company, of Massillon, Ohio, the Stempel Sign Company, of Dayton, and several other concerns, it is said.

At each intersection the word, "Stop" will be stenciled on the pavement, and at many of the dangerous corners in the city where intersecting streets have not been designated main thoroughfares, the word, "Slow" will probably be stenciled.

Market Street will be marked early in the spring from Mechanic Street east to Columbus Street.

MONEY AT WORK

Brief but important lessons in Finance, Markets, Stocks, Bonds and Investments

The location of a retail store can be its best asset or its worst liability.

Proper store location is one of the most vital problems of retailing. A poor location causes failure even when sound merchandising principles are practiced.

Old tumble-down structures, empty buildings, billboards, or other unattractive features near a store often drive people to the other side of the street. Most women avoid smoke, side of the street is more pleasant than the other in these particulars; it will be preferred by pedestrians.

Analyze the passing traffic in regard to the type of goods sold. Large crowds of people passing by a store on their way to or from work are not usually customers for most types of goods.

In starting a retail store it need not be thought that because the competitors already in business show small sales and apathy that there is no potential market. Frequently a new and thrifty merchant not only makes his own business successful, but the business of his competitors as well.

One Wife on Approval by VIOLET DARE

WHO'S WHO AND WHAT'S HAPPENED

CYNTHIA and JIM LELAND, bride and groom, settle in their new home to find that Jim's mother expects to rule their lives. Cynthia rebels; Jim's devotion to his mother blinds him. Cynthia meets PHIL GRAHAM, an old friend, and invites him home for the night.

TODAY'S INSTALLMENT
XII—A NEW ALLY

CYNTHIA had expected the worst of that evening. She had thought that probably she and Madame Leland would sit facing one another for a dreary hour or two, misunderstanding each other perfectly. But a surprise was in store for her. At half-past eight the doorbell jangled impatiently; a moment later Louella Leland and her husband, Stanley Clark, were announced. Cynthia had met Stanley Clark only a few times, and hardly knew him. But that evening, as Mrs. Leland and her daughter retired to the library for a private conference, he turned to Cynthia with a boyish grin that she found delightful.

VIOLET DARE

"First chance we've had to talk," he observed, seating himself beside her. "How do you like our town by this time? Does it seem awfully slow?"

"Oh, not at all!" exclaimed Cynthia fervently. "Anything but that."

"I hear that you rather startled the community this noon by lunching with a handsome stranger who was indelicately glad to see you," he commented. Cynthia would have been angry with him, but his smile disarmed her. "I don't blame you. I should think you'd have been glad to see anyone you'd known before you landed here. Oh, I know what this town can do! I came here to represent my firm just a few months before I was married, and for awhile I thought it was the jumping-off place. Then after I met Louella and we became engaged, I thought it was worse—you can't draw a long breath without having somebody run and tell someone else about it."

Cynthia smiled, wondering whether Madame Leland had been able to manage this son-in-law as she did her own children. She longed to ask Stanley, but felt that it would somehow be disloyal.

"You'll like it here when you know the people," he went on, taking a cigar out of his case, and then apparently reconsidering and putting it back again. "But it's a gossip town, there's no question of that. Tell me, when's Jim coming back?"

"In a week or so, I think," she answered. "He said that when he went west he might look into those investments of Madame Leland's, the ones she made while he was away with me, on our honeymoon."

Stanley raised his eyebrows sharply, but Madame Leland and Louella returned to the room just then, and nothing further was said.

Cynthia went home the next morning, giving the excuse that she wanted a book she had been reading a few days before. In reality she wanted to see how her kitten, Mark, was getting along, and to warn the maids not to feed him too much.

She walked along slowly, planning to make her outing last as long as possible. Madame Leland had said that when she returned they would go shopping together, and Cynthia was not looking forward to the trip with any pleasure. Her mother-in-law was always extremely unpleasant to them, insisting on being waited on at once, no matter how many people were ahead of her, and frequently insisting on being shown a number of articles and then not buying any.

"I was just looking," she would say haughtily to the disheveled shop girl, and saunter away, and on the one expedition of the sort that she and Cynthia had gone on together, Cynthia had returned later and bought something of each girl who had been so treated.

She was wondering as she approached her own home whether she could possibly take Mark back to Madame Leland's with her. He would be such company, somehow. But of course it was out of the question. Madame Leland wouldn't have an animal of any kind in the house.

Nearing the house, she noticed a number of children playing on the lawn; she knew that two of them lived next door, and it was only when she saw that they were chasing her kitten that she felt at all disturbed. Then she began to hurry.

Cynthia ran forward crying, Mark!

"They mustn't do that; he's such a little thing—and he isn't used to children; they'll frighten him," she thought, as she ran along.

Just before she reached the house, one of the children nearly caught the kitten, who, apparently much frightened, darted toward the street blindly. Cynthia ran forward, calling, "Mark! Mark!"

But he did not see her. In an instant he had gone dashing into the street, just as a high-powered roadster swung round the corner. Cynthia screamed, and ran forward, but she was too late. The driver of the car slowed down and swung to one side, to stop, but Cynthia's gay little black kitten lay lifeless at the side of the street.

Cynthia hardly knew what she did. In reality she sank down on the curb and had hysterics, while the young man who had been driving the roadster bent over her and frantically tried to calm her.

"You killed my kitten—you killed my kitten—" she sobbed, over and over, while the frightened children stood by, staring at her.

"I'll get you another—honestly, I'm awfully sorry," the young man assured her, sitting down on the curb beside her. "Isn't there something I can do?"

"I don't want another cat, and you can't do anything," declared Cynthia, and went stumbling into the house.

Your Income Tax

No. 20

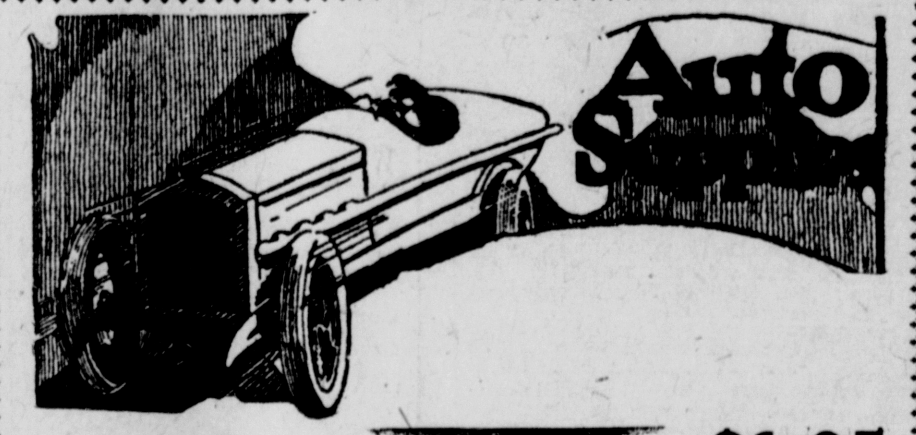

Bad debts may be deducted from gross income in computing net income only for the year in which they are ascertained to be worthless and charged off the books of the taxpayer. The necessity for this provision of the law is obvious. If a bad debt were allowed as a deduction without requirement that it be charged off the books, the certainty of its worthlessness would be left open to question. If a bad debt were allowed as a deduction in the year in which charged off, without regard to when it was ascertained to be worthless, such charges could be unduly accumulated.

The taxpayer should attach to his return a statement showing the propriety of any deduction claimed for a bad debt. Where the surrounding circumstances show that a debt is worthless and uncollectible, and that legal action, in all probability, would not avail, proof of these facts is sufficient evidence of its worthlessness.

The difference between the face value of a note and the amount received in compromise is an allowable deduction, provided the debtor has no assets out of which the entire amount may be collected, by suit. However, where the debt is compromised, the debtor having assets out of which the entire amount could have been collected through legal action, the difference between the amount received in compromise and the amount claimed, whether admitted or disputed, is not an allowable deduction as a bad debt.

Unpaid loans made to needy relatives with little or no exception of their return are not deductible, but are regarded as gifts. Where a creditor continues to extend credit to a debtor, a debt may not be charged off as worthless. If a bad debt is forgiven it can not be claimed, as it is then regarded as a gift, which is not an allowable deduction. A valid debt is worthless only if it is not always a proper deduction. For example, unpaid amounts representing wages, salaries, rentals, or similar items of taxable income are not allowable as deductions unless included in the return for the year in which such deduction is sought or in a previous year. The fact that expected income was not received does not decrease the amount of taxable income.
